Lesson notes Interactive tab

Riff 1 Introduction

In this lesson we're introduced to the first powerchord riff you will learn how to play. It's a great example of how you can use these riffs to practice moving powerchord shapes up and down the neck.

Your first job, before even looking at the tab below, is to simply listen to the whole song. Get the feel and groove in your head

The tab

When it comes to riff based songs, you'll have to get used to reading tab a lot more than chord charts.

Both will be useful still, as we'll see in this course, but the tab gives you a more exact version of what you are playing. Below is the tab for this song, as well as a few useful annotations to help along the way. Remember you also have the interactive tab to guide you.

Start to get familiar with how powerchords look on tab. The two notes above each other!

Powerchord Riff (Repeat it 10 Times)

These repeat marks tell us to go back to the first repeat marks and play again for 10 times!

No need to learn anything quite yet, we'll do that in the next lesson. For now, all you need to do is watch the video and see how it connects to the tab. We'll work through it properly in the next lesson.
