Solo section one

Now we'll tackle the first set of licks, which demonstrate just how flexible that pentatonic box is. We do drop down and use the box one in the open position as well (including the blues notes), to add a different dynamic to this opening part of the solo. Let's break down the licks we're working with initially.

These are the licks we're working with in this lesson. As you can see, we are using the pentatonic box 1 for the entire thing, further confirming to us that Hendrix didn't need much more!
