Sus Chords Part 2

UNIT 2 • LESSON 3 << PREVIOUS NEXT >>

Sus Chord Song 2

In this lesson, we go through a playthrough of the full song, making use of the suspended chords we have learnt so far. The song includes a slightly more complex structure to our previous, and way more chord changes! You're also very welcome to write and add your own lyrics and vocals if you are so inclined! If you ever feel to record your version and send it over to our community platform we'd love to hear it.

Part 2

We will now learn a new set of Suspended chords and once again explain how you can use and apply them into your own songwriting and composition. We also have an even trickier sus chord song ready to be mastered, so get those acoustic guitars at the ready!

Can you hear the changes?

As you listen to the song, can you hear where the chord changes? We're not expecting you to identify what chord it is at this point, just that there is a change at all. We're looking to be able to notice when the chord moves, as depending on the part of the song this can sound different. This song has the added difficulty of a lot of quick changes, as we're using regular sus chord movements. These can sound more subtle too, as the core chord (for example E) is staying the same, but we are bringing in and out the sus2 and sus4. See if you can spot these when listening?

I would recommend playing the audio track
once you've

once, so that you're not just watching the chord
change, but
in fact,
using your
ears to hear the chord
change!
